What Will be Covered: Facilitator training includes a self-directed preparatory video followed by a three-hour live webinar. The webinar will discuss social and legal information regarding cannabis as well as facilitation strategies for both in-person and online delivery.

Who can be Trained: Professionals who deliver programming to youth.

Delivery: WOTR workshops are delivered anywhere that youth access services or programs. Workshops can be delivered in-person or on any web-based platform the facilitator and participants are familiar with.

Materials: Online access to the WOTR program will be provided to participants once they have completed training. Post training documents include: A certificate and a facilitator's manual and free WOTR swag if requested.

Delivery Language: The program and its material are available in both French and English.

Cost: There is no cost associated with online training or workshop delivery.
